Re: Charles Martin
Case Number 20-18680

Dear Judge Chavez-Ruark:

First, I hope and trust this letter finds you in the very best of health and spirit.

Second, I am writing to express my sincere and deepest apologies to you and the other parties to this case, for the manner in which this instant case has gone. While I was very disappointed in the manner in which certain things occurred in the past, I have determined that it is best for me to “get over it” and do everything that I possibly can do to get this case on the right track and guarantee its success.

Third, to the extent that I have not agreed with other parties in the case, or felt like I was being mistreated because of my circumstances, I have determined that going forward, I must raise that issue with the Court while I hope and pray that the Court will do what is in the best interest of the case and the creditors. The only thing I want is to properly resolve my issues and successfully see this case through.

Fourth, because I have suffered and overcome a near fatal stroke, I KNOW that it is possible to come back and DO what others think is “impossible”.

Finally, I appreciate you. I realize that I could have done a lot better and assure you that I will do better as we go forward. I truly appreciate your understanding, and I humbly request your consideration of my apology in this matter.

Most Sincerely,

Charles Martin
